To devote such attention and space to spanking can also be tedious. There is just so much you can drub out of this kind of activity, as deep and rewarding as you might consider it. As the saying goes, you can't beat a dead horse. Eventually, you become fixed in you fascination. You become a preacher.

Still, you can refuse to be bested, to be defeated by your own vices. Without much fuss and upset, rattle your emotional jewellery closer to the skin, allow their own curiosity to draw them in. Soon there will be other things pressing at your door, gliding in for a hug.
