Black and white movies used to feature bare hand wife spanking, considered a charming affair at the time. Alas, time has a way of self correcting reality. Porn sites have since adapted to established norms, and probably even more to their purveyors and the fantasies they bring to bear, leading to an inflation of "wife spanks husband" videos. Grrr.

Should one abide to the new, be current? Or should one stand firmly for what one feels, believes, is moved by? No yardstick or a crystal ball for his one. Sorry. Come in for a hug dear. We'll figure it out, together.
